“There is no such other places in the world, where when during sunny days, you will fly fish for sea run brown trouts in ‘carriberan looking’ flats”.

Coastal Sea trout fishing

“The coastal waters that surrounds our Lodge holds the best sea trout fishing spots of all Denmark and Europe.”

Fyn island is famous for its sea-run brown trout (known locally as “havørred”), which thrive in the waters of the North sea and the Baltic Sea.

Because of the extraordinary coastal environment surrounding the island, characterized by not less than 1000 km of shallow waters and sandy beaches -all prime sea trout habitats-, there is no other destination in the world similar to our: we are not fishing in the rivers but we are instead wading, exploring, and fishing the shallow flats around our island.

Since the hundreds of little rivers on the island -although ideal for reproduction- are however too small environments, trouts here have adapted to living most of the time into the sea remaining for the most along the coastline in shallow water, also given the low salinity of the sea water around the island.

Worth to be mentioned, a consistent regional project and the help of volunteers have been preserving the island spawning rivers where sea trout reproduce, for not less than 30 years, constantly guaranteeing a healthy and balanced population of this species.

“A unique fishing experience and the satisfaction of chasing a fish with an added value”

Fishing here is it's about understanding the sea's rhythms and reading its subtle signs. The dedication required, paired with the beauty of the surrounding nature, create a fulfilling and meditative experience that brings anglers back year after year.

This is not at all a “20 fish in a day destination”, but if you are looking for a fantastic fishing experience and the satisfaction of catching fish with “value added”, then you must try at least once in a lifetime this fly fishing experience. Additionally, these fish are known for their strength, acrobatic fights and jumps, with most of the catches between 40 - 50 cm size, while rare but not impossible trophy fish can reach up to 70 cm and more.
